

Management

...a degree program for students interested in an accelerated format

The management major emphasizes practical management skills, along with a strong foundation of liberal arts courses. Students complete a wide spectrum of courses covering areas such as marketing, finance, accounting, human resource management, economics, ethics, and strategic planning.

St. Scholastica's management graduates are prepared to seek careers in a wide variety of settings, including advertising, marketing, hospital administration, banking, human resources, manufacturing, education, retail sales, government, social services and the arts.

We offer both evening classes and online courses so you can choose the option that fits your schedule.
